

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

Showers will become more widespread across Scotland on Thursday night and these will become slow moving as they reach northeast Scotland early on Friday morning. Some heavy thundery bursts of rain could bring 10 mm in an hour in places while through the day 20-30 mm is likely, with isolated totals of 40 mm possible.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 06:00 on Fri, 18th Aug 2017 until 18:00 on Fri, 18th Aug 2017

Showers or longer spells of rain will spread from the south early on Friday morning and will continue through much of the day before clearing in the evening. Some heavy, thundery bursts of rain are likely which brings the risk of localised flooding to roads and low-lying land. Please be aware of the risk of some disruption to travel.
